Fire Tuesday afternoon destroyed the barn on the premises of C. R. Osgood on West Fourth street. Articles of value stored in the barn were also burned. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is presumed it started from spontaneous combustion. The department was called out and saved adjoining buildings.

The opera season is now at hand. We have a large variety of fine opera glasses—pearl, silver and enameled. DIXON, The Jeweler

Supt. Tout received a letter Tuesday from Mr. Boland, athletic director of the Sterling, Colorado, High School. Mr. Boland accompanied the team to our city last Friday and this is what he said: "I want to say to you that we enjoyed our trip to your place very much. All our boys say the game was the cleanest one they have played in and that everything was on the square." Makes North Platte people feel pretty good to know that the boys of the high school stand for clean and fair athletics.

Epigrams from "The Other Woman."

Following are a few epigrams from "The Other Woman," the play which Blanche Walsh and company presents at the Keith on Wednesday evening of next week:

"Men do not always show their love—to their wives."

"I ask nothing of the man I love. Not even himself. It is his happiness I want—not mine."

"A wife has to be more than good to hold her husband."

"Why let a little thing like a wife stand in the way?"

"Because a woman loves a married man, it does not follow she is a bad woman."

"Just because we have been divorced twice, you needn't think everybody else has got the habit."

"Lots of women who talk about love, are really looking for a meal ticket."

"Conscience may be a good thing to keep one out of trouble—I prefer common sense—it's safer."

"To be a successful wife, takes intelligence, thought, work. It's the most difficult profession in the world."

History of North Platte.

A. R. Adamson, who is well known as a writer, has just completed writing a history of North Platte which he will soon have published. Mr. Adamson has taken much time in collecting the necessary data and the volume, which will consist of about 175 pages, cannot but prove highly interesting to the people of the city. The work is not issued for the purpose of gaining financial recompense; its compilation was undertaken more as a method of employing time that might otherwise hang heavily upon Mr. Adamson. Practically all he desires is sell a sufficient number of copies to pay the cost of publication. Mr. Adams is ready to receive orders for the book, payment to be made upon delivery of the volume. Some knowledge of the contents of the book can be gained from announcement elsewhere published, giving the subject headings of the first four chapters.

Work on what is known as the Denver Northwestern branch of the Union Pacific has been completed and November 1st will be the official opening day of the new line. The line extends from Sand Creek, a station just outside of LaSalle, a distance of forty-four miles. As the main line of the Union Pacific in Colorado runs from Denver to La Salle this virtually makes two lines running there some distance apart.

Louis Burke returned last night from a visit in Omaha and leaves tonight for his home in Portland, Oregon.
